How are they different?

What features can you see? Can you label them?